

Dr Clare Ardern is an Australian physiotherapist and clinical researcher working at the Division of Physiotherapy at Linköping University, Sweden. Her research focuses on helping people return to being physically active following serious musculoskeletal injury. Clare was Deputy Editor at the British Journal of Sports Medicine for 2 years, with responsibility for systematic reviews. Clare has been Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Orthopaedic & Sports Physical Therapy since July 2018.